SKIRT/BLOUSE/SLEEVE ASSEMBLY
1. Be sure to place BLOUSE “A” on the fold for the front of the blouse and the same piece is to be cut on the center line for the back of the blouse.
2. Sew sleeves to the front and backs of the blouse at the armholes.
3. Sew two rows of gathering stitches at the neckline and pull threads to measure 14 1/2”.
4. Pin 15” of lace hemming tape to the right side of the blouse neck line with 1/4” extended past the ends of the center backs. Top stitch the lace to the neckline.
5. Fold the ends under at the center backs. Fold the lace over lengthwise to cover the raw edges along the neckline and hem stitch in place on the back side of the blouse.
6. Sew two rows of gathering stitches along the bottom of the blouse front and back. Pull the front stitches to measure 8” and the back to measure 4 1/2” each.
7. Fold under 1/4” and press the lower sleeve opening. Mark 1/2” line from the bottom of the pressed edge of each sleeve and sew the 3/8” or trim on the line on the right side of fabric. Double stitch lace (see other stitch line approx. 1/8” above the first stitch line).
8. In order to have the bottom ruffle with no raw seam showing, sew sleeve side seams from the bottom of pressed edge to the underarms and down sides of blouse. Fold the sleeve bottom, wrong sides together, up 1/2” just under the lace bottom and press. Pin along pressed edge and sew a casing 3/16” wide for the elastic. This will make the ruffle approx. 1/2” long. Make small hole at sleeve side seams and insert 4 1/2” of 1/8” elastic. Sew elastic ends together and stitch small holes closed. If there are side seams on the sides of skirt, sew front and back together. If not, measure from the skirt center fronts and mark 23” for the skirt fronts. The remaining fabric will be the backs.
9. If you use 60” fabric, you will not have side seams on the skirt or slip skirt. Measurements are included in instructions.
